EASTERN QUESTION.

Turkey Proposes an Armistice of Six Months—Not Agreed to by Servia—Fiery Article in the Daily News—War Imminent.

Paris, Oct 15—A special to Le Temps states that 300 Russians arrived at Belgrade Friday last

London Oct 15—A telegram from Lesara reports 4 000 insurgents under command of Paul Avtech, have been besieging Belek since Friday. Sachir Pasha with reinforcements has gone to relieve the place

Berlin, Oct. 15—The Dispatch reports a semi official statement from St Petersburg that the Porte's proposal of a five months armistice is regarded by the public as merely an attempt to checkmate Russia and evade the guarantees for proper treatment of Christians by the Porte and don't secure peace Such proposals only cause irritation, and especially is the government solicitous to give the interests of peace precedence over the sympathies of Russia for their co religionists A favorable reception of the proposals by Russia is impossible in consequence of the increase of popular excitement at the language of the English press which has of late been distrustful and jealous of Russia

A dispatch from St. Petersburg says hopes are entertained of avoiding a veto by England of intervention in Turkey by dividing into zones the districts to be occupied by the forces of the Powers

London Oct. 16—The Standard's Vienna correspondent says Turkish statesmen favor peace, but do not wish dishonor The majority are agreed that if foreign pressure becomes intolerable to the independence of the government they might prefer separate terms with Turkey's arch enemy Russia

The Standard's Belgrade dispatch announces that Gen Kawnaroff is on his way to St. Petersburg on a mission from Gen Tchernayeff

London, Oct 16—The Times, in a leading editorial, says the conduct of Russia makes it certain that if Turkey doesn't accept the proposals of the powers Russia will intervene. The crisis is an anxious one We seem to have reached a position in which six weeks will decide an issue of more moment to Europe than any which has arisen since the great wars at the commencement of the century. Russia's refusal of five months armistice is to be condemned, but the Porte would be extremely unwise to receive a shorter armistice. Russian rulers have we fear determined to yield much more and Russia may be soon at the mercy of the storm she has raised It is not too late to keep Russia back If any country can thus save the world from a tremendous war it is Germany She has power to compel acceptance at least of a truce It depends on Prince Bismarck whether the power is to be used. Let him only say that Germany will not permit Russia to plant herself in the Danube and the Czar will find means to stop the Sclavonic enthusiasm which is carrying him and the whole world to war No State has more at stake than Germany The occupation of Bulgaria by Russia would make the Danube from its mouth to Belgrade a Russian stream To keep the navigation of the stream which is as much necessary for Germany as for Austria by a single word Bismarck may save Europe from calamities compared with which those of his own wars seem slight. His responsibility is as great as his power

A dispatch to the Daily News from Belgrade says the Turks crossed the Drina and reported that they bombarded Lorentz but were driven back Skirmishing is in progress in Bosnia where the insurrection is spreading and the Turks have sent troops to that province

London Oct. 16—The Daily News has a special from Belgrade which says Servia is willing to accept the status quo provided the Turks give guarantees for the proper government of Bosnia but Servia will not consent to any armistice longer than Dec 31st If that is rejected now she does not bind herself to accept it at any future time and the prospect of an armistice or peace is not flattering

Ragusa Oct. 16—Jelaldin Pasha, commander of a division of Turkish troops under Moukhtar Pasha has died of wounds received in action

Ragusa Oct. 16—Dervish Pasha having received reinforcements succeeded in repelling the attack on Podogaritza which was commenced by five battalions of Montenegrins on the 10th inst

A dispatch from Belgrade says It is generally believed here and at Belgrade that the Turks will break through the line of the Drina upon which they have been continually making attacks during the last few days Yesterday the Turks attacked the Servian position at Gubnaba for six hours. The attack was repulsed by the Servians The Servian General Novaseloff has telegraphed to headquarters announcing that a battle is impending at Javegan An armistice is considered impossible

Paris Oct 16—The Vienna correspondent of Le Temps reports that the King of Greece in conversation with Count Andrassy declared while he desired peace he felt compelled to put the army of Greece on a war footing in view of the exciting state of affairs and especially of the condition of the Roumanian army

Vienna Oct 16—The Tagblatt of this city announces positively that the issue of a national Servian loan of 400 000 000 rubles has been agreed upon at Livadia.

Six Months' Armistice Offered by Turkey.

London Oct 16—The Times publishes the text of the note in which Turkey offered the six months armistice The Paris correspondent of the paper commenting says the note is conciliatory and almost humble The Times editorially says Turkey could not possibly have been more conciliatory The note judiciously abstains from denouncing foreign volunteers as Russians There is a thing in it at which Russia could take offense The Times further says the fact of Russia having reverted to the demand originally made by England won't be encouraging if we could regard with confidence the animus which prompted this course

Russia's Reply to the Offer of Turkey

Paris Oct 16—The Temps published a summary which it believes to be a correct copy of Prince Gortschakoff's circular to the Russian representatives abroad in reply to Turkey's offer of six months armistice. Prince Gortschakoff points out that no durable peace could proceed from the Turkish proposal Servia and Montenegro could not be expected to remain so long in a critical condition He concludes with the statement that Russia is disposed to insist on an armistice of a month or six weeks which might be extended if the progress of negotiations rendered it necessary

London Oct. 16—The Times Paris correspondent points to the fact that this is the first time Russia has clearly accepted solidarity with Servia and Montenegro and advising them to reject the Turkish propositions She has accepted the responsibility of such refusal

A dispatch from Berlin dated Sunday evening announces that Russia's objections to the Turkish proposals are stated in a circular the tone of which indicates a desire for negotiations There seems to be no danger of immediate collision

London Oct 16—The Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon has a strong leading article on Russia's position It says it believes the Porte will [illegible] regard the alternative demand for a short armistice being [illegible] as a proposal of an [illegible] rather than of a mediator sincerely desiring peace [illegible] ought to reject it It believes it would be mere weakness on the part of the powers to admit Russia's demand To urge the Porte to accept these [illegible] is not only a hopeless [illegible] but [illegible] which no independent power [illegible] can adopt without loss of self respect [illegible] coming the tool of diplomatic trickery. It observes with profound regret that [illegible] the language [illegible] in language which [illegible] editorial of this morning [illegible]

The Pall Mall Gazette says it does not see the advantages of such a course It hopes the English government will withdraw from diplomatic attempts which are so plainly designed to frustrate [illegible] disguised or [illegible] hostility. It says if we withdraw from interference at this point nothing worse can happen than if we go further into it [illegible] that [illegible] hopeless of good results It is with [illegible] a most [illegible] shame that we read and know that all Europe will read the [illegible] of our leading journal to Prince Bismarck to save us and all mankind from the terrible [illegible] What scorn will this be read by the Russian war party We may rely on it that Prince Bismarck will do what he thinks good for the empire in his keeping, and it may be he thinks Russia at war with Turkey rather a desirable eventuality. Russia must begin by fighting [illegible] and [illegible] where if she is to be [illegible] and be no longer a menace in [illegible] possible alliance against the German empire.

Berlin Oct 16—The National Zeitung of this city discussing the [illegible] says the power of Germany neither gives her the right nor imposes on her the duty of placing her own peace in jeopardy for the advantage of others

The North German Gazette says the Times in its article ignores the existence of the alliance of three imperial powers

London Oct 16—The Standard's dispatch from Constantinople says there is great uneasiness here and little hope of avoiding war The popular feeling against Russia is very little better Some warlike demonstration is expected on the occasion of the Bairam which is the great annual Turkish festival It begins this week The Turks now talk calmly of their determination to fight Russia single handed They claim they will have all the guns necessary to carry on the campaign

Political Excitement in Athens.

A dispatch from Athens reports that great popular demonstrations continue to be made in favor of warlike preparations

Operations of Bullion Robbers.

San Francisco Oct 16—In working up matters preliminary to the arrest of the men Thompson, Wilson and Langley, supposed to have been connected with the Idaho stage robbery in 1868, the detectives have discovered that for several years past a gang of which these men are evidently members, has been engaged in a series of bullion robberies involving many of the mines on the Comstock. The method of operation has not yet been developed, but will be as soon as some of the operators now in custody have a chance to explain in the courts The gang which is a perpetuation of the famous Ingraham organization, first commenced business in the stage robbing line but as bars of bullion took the place of the customary coin and gold dust the robbers found it exceedingly difficult to carry off and divide their spoils Besides being very heavy and cumbersome bars were always stamped with the brand of the mine, and that would tell the whole story at sight To prevent this the bars were chopped up at the first favorable opportunity melted and run into bars or blocks but the mere fact of the bullion being melted without a stamp was suspicious and with a stamp of some particular mine, the fact of this could be very easily followed up, so that the disposal of the second lot would be next to impossible without the risk of being taken In following up Thompson, who professed to know all about the Idaho plant, both Bailey and Robertson detectives, ran across in the vicinity of Reno and Truckee several places where bars of bullion had been chopped up and melted down into different shape The work had evidently been very clumsily done and the places selected were generally some old mill or woodchopper's shanty in the mountains This bullion as a rule was stolen from the mines and its loss was generally attributed to the dishonesty of some of the employes Con Virginia is said to have been plundered to the amount of over $50 000, at one time and another The robbers had two or three confederates in the works In transporting bars from one point to another one of them would be slipped off and secreted It is said Robertson has got on the track of some of this Con Virginia bullion and has made a contract with Flood and O Brien, whereby he receives one half of the amount recovered The method of getting rid of the bullion has been to work it up in small bars and send it to the Carson mint for coinage in the shape of the product of small and unimportant mines Robertson started yesterday morning for Virginia City armed with warrants for the arrest of certain individuals known to be connected with this wholesale system of plunder The gang is said to be very extensive and well organized and with confederates in every one of the large mining towns

Gold and Bullion Thieves Likely to be Caught.

San Francisco Oct 16—Regarding the recently published report that men were lately arrested here for complicity in the Idaho stage robbery in 1868 and the stealing of bullion from the Consolidated Virginia and other mines W S O Brien states that while the exact amount cannot be known, probably fifty to sixty thousand dollars had been taken from the Consolidated Virginia in that manner the depredations extending over a number of years The robbers had confederates employed in the mills, with whose connivance amalgam was taken from time to time as circumstances permitted Arrangements are now being made which it is hoped will result in breaking up the gang and recovering a portion of the plunder, in the proceeds of which the detectives will share as a stimulant to their activity

Smallpox.

There was a slight increase in the number of smallpox cases reported last week over the preceding week 39 to 28 It is considered possible that the present damp rainy weather may facilitate the spread of the disease It rained quite heavily before daylight this morning and it has been damp and cloudy all day with a prospect of more rain

"MONOPOLY."

To the Editor of the Oregonian

Permit me through your paper, which has a good circulation in this county, to expose some "ways that are dark and tricks that are vain" In doing this I will not imitate the sneaking disposition of some word worriers in this community, who have sought the public ear in disguise, but will give this article, however small may be its merits, the guarantee of a responsible name.

The demagogue seeking office generally has a favorite phrase, which admits of changes enough to mislead the ignorant and the unwary The favorite word of the demagogue now stumping Pacific county for the legislature is "monopoly" It may be doubted whether he knows the meaning of this word himself If he does he takes care not to enlighten his hearers. Turning to the dictionary we find its meaning to be expressed as "The exclusive possession of anything the sole right of selling" How he manages to make this word suit his purpose, is no business of Webster, or of the rule of three So far from any one here having the exclusive possession of oysters, it is only yesterday that an oysterman was complaining to me, that no one would buy his oysters, and his family was needy As to the sole right of selling we all know that can only be obtained by a patent right from the government Who are the monopolists thus charged of defrauding the poor man of his rights? They are men once as poor as the poorest, who by industry and economy have developed a leading industry of the Territory, who by combining the small means of individuals are able to put the products of their labor into market and who in thus helping themselves, have habitually helped the poor man to dispose of his oysters until as intimated above, it is thought a grievance if they refuse to buy

What monopoly do they seek to establish? They simply seek to be protected in the sole and exclusive right to the avails of their own labor, according to the forms and constitution of our country They wish their property in oysters to be respected just as property in all other merchandise is respected They want to hold the oyster ground improved according to law, by a tenure more secure than the right of occupation or the voice of the mob

However blind and deaf to reason self interest makes the man, the disinterested verdict of the people will always be given for the security of property Enterprise is the genius of America. But what inducement has enterprise if the title to property is insecure. Labor has its rights, let those rights be forever honored and respected It is the strong giant that lifts the veil off the ages to truth and multiplies the means of man's elevation But capital also has its rights, and to-day this Territory languishes not for laborers, but for the sinews of war From the East and from the West great clouds white black yellow hang threateningly on our political horizon, awaiting the movement of the waters to crowd over our borders with the thunder of a thousand waterspouts and the fury of the whirlwind All have a right which none can gainsay to come among us and labor It is for Americans, native and foreign born to say how cheaply or how dearly shall be obtained the prize of American citizenship It is, moreover, the business of Americans to hold the scales between labor and capital with a strong and impartial hand

If this is sound doctrine and shall prevail, the rule of the demagogue is brief If this is true, who with the knowledge of the facts before him will support the brawling candidate above alluded to It his political career is to resemble his business life very few In everything he has proved a failure He has tried the "monopoly" business and failed He has tried the temperance dodge and could not make it pay An apostate Methodist if politics fail him it is hard to see where he will ever get hold again

OPENING ADDRESS.

The following address of Hon W. P Watson President of the State Agricultural Society, though a little out of date, may not prove uninteresting

Ladies and Gentlemen of the Oregon Agricultural Society As the president of your Society it is expected that I shall inaugurate the proceedings of this Fair by delivering an opening address as my predecessors have done before me This is the Seventeenth Annual Fair that has been held in Oregon It falls upon a time when our nation of which we are all proud, is a hundred years old—the Centennial year, when everybody seems to be happy and when our whole nation is having a rest from its toil in one grand holiday, in which Americans are reviewing the past, setting up grand waymarks to mark the progress of the age in human skill and profitable industry and more and better than all an epoch in our history in which every live and intelligent man and woman is girding on their armor for a new departure in the lines of an increased exertion in trying to make this world a better and more attractive home for a superior race that is trending close upon our heels

From a small start in Oregon City in 1860, our annual State Fair has through long years of darkness and discouragement, grown up through the indefatigable exertions of its officers and a few friends, till we are [illegible] to day with a sight that twenty years ago no [illegible] expected to live to see. This to be sure, is centennial year, and we have made greater exertions on that account but then, the very fact that we have got up on a little higher plane than we were ever on before, will serve as a stimulus to go still higher and higher in the future The higher we climb the more extended our horizon, the more we take in of the Canaan of our future prosperity and glory, and I shouldn't wonder if all of the stimulus given by our present year's grand success would make all our future fairs even better than this

The exhibitions of human skill in inventions for utilizing and preserving our fruits and other products, which can be seen in operation on these grounds, have never before been equaled in Oregon, or even in the world

And what may be said of these inventions is probably in some measure true of many other articles on exhibition Fellow citizens if you enjoy as profound a satisfaction in walking over these grounds and through these buildings, and taking in the full measure of the meaning of what you see here, as do your officers, who through discouragements and difficulties, have labored on to bring about just such a state of things, you are indeed a happy people, and you ought to be excused for indulging a little in even a boisterous hilarity. A great many broad smiles and a good deal of congratulatory handshaking will be in order any way among the old pioneers who came here young, but now carry deep furrows down cheeks that have faced many a storm, some of whom will probably meet here for the last time before passing over to a country where the toils and privations incident to a first settlement will no more be experienced I did not come here to read you long moral lectures about your duties as farmers, mechanics, inventors, or as good citizens I do not propose to tell the ladies, even how to conduct the household, how to try to please their husbands by sewing buttons on their shirts, darning their socks, and always having a nice meal ready for the hungry "lords of creation," whether their "lords" have provided anything to cook it with or not. I shall not even say a word about our soil, climate and wonderful productions, with our great facilities for transportation and the vast debt of gratitude we owe capitalists for affording them to us I choose rather to let the display you see here to day, speak to you in words more eloquent than any at my command, you will need the whole week to listen to the language of these dumb but eloquent mouths and after you drink it all in you can profitably and pleasantly spend months in digesting it, and years in acting upon the suggestions they make. The officers of this Society have spared no pains in perfecting all the necessary arrangements for an orderly, pleasant and successful fair, and with the hearty co-operation of the good people who have swarmed in upon us, we shall have such a good time that we shall remember it with pleasure for years to come. I have discharged my duty as president of your Society in choosing a Centennial orator by selecting Dr. W. L. Adams of Portland, an old pioneer known by almost everybody in Oregon He will address you from this stand next Friday at 10 o'clock A M. In conclusion I thank you for your attention and dismiss you with the hope that this Centennial week spent on the Oregon Fair Grounds will prove the happiest and most profitable week of your lives up to this auspicious period in the history of our government, in the history of agriculture, of the arts and sciences, and in the history of the onward and upward progress of what in due time, if not already, will be such a great and noble people

For the Oregonian

A CARD.

Having been nominated to the office of joint representative for the counties of Pacific and Chehalis I consented to accompany the opposing candidate, Thomas Warman, in a tour of public speaking through this representative district This consent I am now obliged, by my self-respect, to withdraw, as I cannot in justice accompany a man who descends to such personal abuse and misrepresentation Henceforth I shall conduct the canvass by myself and in my own way, leaving the same option to him.

Should it be asked by those whom I cannot see what principles I would advocate if elected I simply reply that if elected I will not directly nor indirectly seek for or vote for any legislation whatever upon the oyster question In my opinion there is now upon the statute book all the laws which are practicable or will be profitable until the Territory becomes a State These laws furnish protection to labor and security to property, and work no injustice to any class, unless the rights acquired by long occupation and improvement should be considered unjust to the claims of those later in the field, which, if it works injustice in this case the objection will apply with equal force in any field where priority of title gives precedence The oyster fishery, like the salmon fishery must be protected by laws that will give to every one engaged therein security for his property, to have and to hold or to sell and deliver and any law interfering with these rights must necessarily be injurious Security to property is the chief bulwark of American liberty If such legislation can be had as will unsettle the rights of property in one line of business, the same principle of legislation can be applied to another line of business with equal facility, but capital which is now the one thing needed to develop our natural resources ever seeks the safest field of operation from which facts I am led to conclude that more laws upon the oyster question, especially such as are calculated to restrict the rights of property, will prove injurious

Why Governor Chamberlain Applied for Aid.

The Tribune's Washington says, The following is contained substantially in the official reports submitted to the President concerning the South Carolina white line [illegible] in connection with Chamberlain's application for troops. Capt Butler is known as one [illegible] Butler, and is a [illegible] of General Butler, of the Hamburg [illegible] Coker was a [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] the 18th, the rifle club [illegible] by Captain A P Butler went to Ellenton [illegible] by a wood train to Robbins' station, where they found Coker quietly [illegible] for the train, some one exclaimed; "There's that [illegible] nigger Coker." Butler approaching, said, "Coker I am the nigger ruler and you've got to go with me." Butler's command then surrounded him and [illegible] him into a car of the wood train which then returned [illegible] Coker was taken into a field. Butler asked [illegible] "What's your business?" "I'm [illegible] Barnwell county to the South Carolina [illegible]" "All the better," said Butler, [illegible] you are a radical nigger and got to die." "For God's sake give me time to pray." [illegible] said Butler, pray away, but pray quick." [illegible] then kneeled down and began to pray, while he was praying Butler [illegible] and shot him twice, and Coker fell forward on his face, bleeding and dying. Butler [illegible] and six of his men fired at the [illegible] he died. The murderers took his [illegible] and gold shirt [illegible] returned to Robbins. These facts are [illegible] by three witnesses, who swear that [illegible] crime was [illegible]

It was understood Chamberlain's application for [illegible] the South Carolinians was [illegible] at the cabinet meeting to day, but as only two regular members were present [illegible] was postponed until to-morrow or [illegible] day when Secretaries Fish and [illegible] will probably be here. The [illegible] South Carolina rifle clubs have the right [illegible] under the [illegible] of the [illegible] which [illegible] and bear arms. The cabinet officers [illegible] to the belief that the rifle clubs [illegible] claim any such privilege, as they are arrayed in practical [illegible] to the [illegible] now defy the [illegible] of Federal law [illegible]

The Tribune's Washington [illegible] been considerable [illegible] about the possible [illegible] of the [illegible] Wednesday of February next in case the Presidential election should turn upon the counting [illegible] of one [illegible] The Democrats have [illegible] if the election would turn on [illegible] Carolina's vote, the House [illegible] the 22d joint rule which provides if either [illegible] it shall not be [illegible] counted and thus [illegible] by the vote of the State. WILLIAMS OR LANE?

It will not be pretended by the most exacting partisan of Mr Lane that the synopsis we published yesterday of the joint discussion which took place Saturday night between him and Mr Williams was not a fair and impartial report The OREGONIAN does not propose to be so far influenced by party alliance or preference as not present the truth to its readers in matters even of the most vital importance considered with reference to party success Can any one, not himself blinded by party prejudice, compare the speeches of the two gentlemen without seeing at once that Mr Williams will make a much more creditable and influential member of Congress than his opponent could possibly make Mr. Williams discussed political questions in the spirit of a broad liberal independence; Mr. Lane, in the manner of a narrow partisan Mr Williams, nominated by a party of freedom, is himself a freeman who acknowledges no authority in the party that nominated him to overrule his individual conscience, dictate his convictions, or absorb his personality, Mr. Lane gives himself and his State into the keeping of the National Democratic Convention, and avows himself ready to do whatsoever that body may command him This is the point of his explanation of his vote for rag money, in face of the almost unanimous sentiment of his constituency and his own oft repeated professions. Now he adds to his acknowledgment of submission to the behests of his party, a statement that the demand made upon by the party accorded with his own convictions of duty. But why? Has he changed his mind? Has he come to the conclusion that he and his constituency in Oregon were wrong in demanding a return to specie? Does he say this is the case? No, he says nothing of the kind. Neither does he advance a single argument pointing in that direction. We give Mr. Lane credit for possessing ordinary intelligence, and therefore we assume that if he had arrived at the conclusion that resumption was inexpedient and rags better than money he would said so. Not only would have said so but he would taken the pains to show his deluded constituency the fallacy of the hard-money theories in which he and they alike lately professed unqualified faith and to which they, nearly all cling. In the absence of any such declaration or argument on his part, it may be logically inferred that when he says he was led by a sense of duty, he simply means that he thought it his duty to obey the behests of his party. So it comes round to the same place his party commanded him to vote for the repeal of the resumption act; he believes it to be the duty of a public servant to obey his party rather than his follow his own views of expediency, or the wishes of his constituency; therefore when his party commanded him to nurse the rag baby it accorded with his sense of duty to do so This is referred to as a specimen of the sort of reasoning that Mr. Lane adopts to justify himself in doing whatsoever his party at the East may order him to; do Oregon, situated off at the northwest corner of the Union, is too small to influence to make herself felt in the national convention of Mr. Lane's party, against the power of the "solid South;" so Mr. Lane, exalting party fealty above the obligations he owes to his remote constituency, and above his own individual convictions of expediency, gives away himself and his State, and consents that both may become nonentities because the "solid South," under the name of the Democratic party, demands the sacrifice What is to be expected from one thus enslaved by party? As it has been in this currency business, so it must be expected to be in all other matters of importance to Oregon, if Mr. Lane is returned to Congress. Oregon and her interests must go to the wall whenever the ukase of the "solid South" so directs. Does Oregon want such a representative in Congress? Let the voters answer intelligently and they will be sure to answer in the negative

Fault is found in some quarters with Senator Van Cleave on account of his introduction of a bill to do away with the exemption of firemen from jury duty. This is unjust The bill was prepared by some of Mr Van Cleave's constituents and he was requested to introduce it. In doing so he did only what any representative of the people should be willing to do at all times Under such circumstances, the introduction of a bill implies no expression of opinion on its merits We know not what are the particular provisions of the bill, but any one familiar with the courts in this county knows that the law at present is liable to serious objection Active firemen might be required to leave the city just when they were sitting on a jury, and therefore they should be exempt, but we have in this city a number of nominal firemen who are firemen just because of this exemption

A correspondent of the New York Herald, who was with Gen Crook accuses that general of vanity, hypocrisy and incompetency in very plain terms He states that from the time Gen Crook started on his last expedition until its conclusion he made no plans, but trusted to the chance of something turning up of which he could take advantage. The correspondent declares that the soldiers suffered terribly, while the pack men and Crook himself had what was comparatively speaking excellent living It is no doubt true that the soldiers suffered a great deal on that expedition, and it is possible that Gen Crook may have fared better than most of them did but it is hard to believe that Gen Crook willfully neglected his men, or that he is either a hypocrite or vain, or incompetent His reputation as a good officer is too well established to be easily shaken

Some fellow in New York sent a message to the Associated Press announcing the death of Commodore Vanderbilt The message contained a lie as the Commodore is as well now as he has been for a month past. The author regardless of the annoyance and pain he might have caused sent it as a joke and no doubt would have plumed himself upon its success if it had been successful Jokes are pleasanter than groans, and it is better to laugh than be sighing, but jokes of the kind attempted by this fellow are calculated to excite no mirth but only contempt and disgust for the author and his work

We print the following extracts from Southern papers to show what sort of rant is indulged in by fire eating editors and reckless politicians in the South We do not believe that the sober portion of the people talk or think that way, but nevertheless, they are led and controlled by those who do

[From the Okolona (Miss) Southern States Sept 14]

But alas that fond delusion was to be dispelled in later years The foul spirit of federalism rose and reasserted itself upon our shores, it sowed dissensions and dragons teeth it plunged us into the horrible carnage of a civil war, it triumphed and to day it is using its power with the cold cruel and cowardly malice of a fiend

Shall we accede like cravens to its edicts? Shall its ultimatum in all things be accepted? Shall its will forever be our law? No! A thousand times, NO!

From the Lynchburg (Va) Star Sept

Oh soldiers who fought with Lee, Johnston and Jackson—ye who rode down into the red valley of death with Hill, Stuart and Hampton, where will you be found? You come not in response to the ringing bugle or the stirring alarum of the drum, no silken banners wave above your heads, no gleaming bayonets are there but the smiles of virtue and beauty nerve you to the discharge of your duty, and the Lord Himself bids you make no long tarrying 'He armeth the patriot' And He is with those who act for themselves

The Turks, with their usual sloth, have tardily proposed an armistice of six months but their proposal comes too late Russia will not allow Servia and Montenegro to agree to an armistice of such length. In thus advising, or what is the same thing, compelling Servia and Montenegro to refuse to agree to the Porte's proposal, Russia assumes a very great responsibility—in fact the whole responsibility for the war which may be brought on in consequence of the failure of the armistice

A report is in circulation that a joint stock company is being formed in San Francisco to purchase the Daily Herald, the new Democratic paper and enlarge it, with Manton Marble as managing editor, but of course it is not true

DR. WATTS AT ROSEBURG

ROSEBURG, Oct. 16, 1876

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

There was a large and enthusiastic audience in attendance here on Saturday last to hear Dr Watts, who had been invited to address the Hayes and Wheeler club of this place. Owing to an hour's delay in the time of the arrival of the train, many persons were kept away who intended to be present

Dr. Watts' address was devoted mainly to the exposure of the duplicity of the Democratic platform, and the danger of acting upon Democratic principles He then compared the two presidential candidates and showed how little Tilden and how thoroughly Hayes could be trusted Dr. Watts then alluded to the candidates for Congress in our own State, and, contrasting their abilities, showed clearly that the people should vote for Mr. Williams if they wanted an honest, capable and independent representative. He showed that to send Mr Lane would be very little better than to send a proxy to some one of the Democratic leaders, for Mr Lane always voted just as he was instructed by the boss tyhees at Washington Dr Watts' address was able and eloquent and was received with frequent outbursts of merited applause The Republicans of this county are fully aroused and will spare no efforts between this and the day of election. You may safely set down Douglas county to give 200 majority for Hayes and Wheeler and Dick Williams, Q.

THIS IS TO CERTIFY THAT THE UNDERsigned have formed a limited partnership pursuant to the provisions of an act of the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Washington approved December 2 1863 under the firm name of Leveridge & Prindle that the general nature of the business to be transacted is taking, canning salting and selling fish at Bay View on the Columbia river, in the county and Territory above named

That W K Leveridge a resident of San Francisco, in the State of California and C W Prindle who resides at Portland in the State of Oregon are the general partners in such partnership, and that R D. Hume, now residing at Bay View in said Territory of Washington, is a special partner therein

That said R. D Hume has contributed the sum of seventeen thousand five hundred dollars ($17,500) as capital towards the common stock of said copartnership and that the whole capital stock of said copartnership is in amount the sum of thirty thousand five hundred dollars ($30,500).

That said copartnership is to commence on the 20th day of October A D 1876 and is to terminate on the 20th day of October A D 1879

Dated this 11th day of October A D 1876

BRIEF NOTES.

Muddy streets and crossings

The occupation of the street sprinkler is gone

The Eld[illegible] will take out a large list of passengers

The Elder made a very quick trip from San Francisco

Remember the meeting this evening at Oro Fino Theater

Several grain laden vessels will probably go to sea this week

Captain Calvin has baggage check 0 and [illegible] No 81

The circus is doing the Sound and then sail for San Francisco

The Elder will not sail hence until next Saturday morning at 6 o'clock

The present session of the legislature is rapidly winding to a close

Oregon Lodge of Perfection will meet at 7 o clock this (Tuesday) evening

California paper mails arrive here distressingly irregular Whose fault is it?

Ladies must forego the gratification of wearing long trailing skirts this weather

Surely the most chronic fault finder cannot growl at the conduct of the weather clerk

Look out for burglars and sneak thieves There are plenty of them now in the city

The Wallamet river will soon yield to the watery influences and crawl up the banks

The City of Salem brought down yesterday a large freight including goods returned from the fair

It can be safely set down that the rainy season has fairly commenced Old J. Pluvius is chief for the next six months

The other night a gentleman left some clothes hanging on a line in his back yard He now mourns the loss of sundry shirts and underwear

Steamer Geo B Elder arrived yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o clock at Astoria She left for Portland an hour later and reached here early this morning

There is a dangerous looking snag protruding from the water opposite the foot of Washington street It ought to be removed before some steamboat is damaged

Judge Orange Jacobs, Republican nominee for delegate to Congress from Washington Territory will address the Hayes and Wheeler club of Portland next Saturday evening

State Fair is over, and the usual crowd of hungry sharps swindlers and thieves has again visited this city It is to be hoped that these cormorants will wing their way to more congenial regions

EUGENE CITY LETTER.

Veracity, writing from Eugene City under a recent date sends the following

We are all in an anxious state of mind at present it being so near the time for more cases of smallpox to be developed It is sad to witness the strange freaks of some of the parties who were exposed in waiting on Mr Abrams The poor individuals fully expecting to be afflicted, have been on the qui vive for a shelter in the shape of a pest house to lay in and seclude themselves from contact with others Three of our young men who are anxiously awaiting developments and dreading seclusion from friends deemed it most advisable to erect a pest house for their own occupancy, and selected a lot almost in the center of town, and on Sunday morning more than half completed a shanty for their purpose when their labors were brought to a close Our city council had a special meeting and decided to build a pest house a little outside of the city limits

Business is not interrupted very much as there is a vast amount of grain being hauled to town and considerable trading is being carried on The Lane county M A is doing a rushing business are constantly receiving large quantities of goods and disposing of them very readily

The grangers are much elated over their success and are talking of increasing their stock from ten to twenty thousand dollars

Messrs Underwood & Gray have leased their flouring mills to Patterson & Lirees Mr Gray will devote his spare time to the requirements of his office taking care of our county funds

There are some improvements being made in town, as some new buildings are in course of erection and several more contemplated Mr Bell Jennings who has lately purchased the substantial and commodious residence of Mr McDermott is busily engaged in painting the fencing and outside work preparatory to moving in and settling down in ease and elegance It is also said Mr George Humphrey intends putting up a fine residence and expects to live in style

LETTER FROM SALEM

SALEM Oct 15 1876

A radical change has come over the spirit of our dreams in the capital city and where during the past week hurry and bustle ruled supreme quietude reigns to day The exit commenced on the departure of Friday evening's train for the metropolis since which time up to the present moment there has been little or no cessation to the egress All day long have loaded teams been passing through the city headed in every conceivable direction laden with men women and children and luggage Stock and other articles that have been on exhibition are visible at times some adorned with ribbons and other emblems that conveyed insignia of honor A few persistent hack drivers are still on the road but the old familiar cry of all aboard for the Fair ground has become a thing of the past as has the scenes and incidents of the sixteenth annual exhibition of the

RE[illegible] STATE FAIR

Has it proved a success? Yes comparatively speaking The exhibition of stock poultry machinery art and fancy work has undoubtedly surpassed that of any former year both in general excellence and number but financially considered it hardly came up to the anticipations of either the managers or the general public The universal scarcity of coin was painfully apparent everywhere and the fact that the farmers had not yet sold their wheat needed no verification on the part of those who were sufficiently interested to inquire into the matter The majority of the stands barely paid expenses while a few perhaps made money The receipts of the society will we learn fall short of those of last year some $1000 Those in attendance complained that socially speaking it was "pokey" and other attractions will be necessary another year Had the society offered a liberal premium for base ball to have been contested for on the last day of the fair it would undoubtedly

HAVE HELD THE CROWD

Another day at least and added interest to the exhibition We hope they will see the feasibility of this plan and catch the idea enough to offer something handsome another season They however did one very meritorious act this year and contributed $250 towards paying the expenses of the Oregon fruit exhibit at the Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia a little item of expense wherein our legislators essentially proved themselves decidedly penny wise and pound foolish It should stand as a lasting monument of disgrace to our legislators that so important and at the same time reasonable expenditure of public money should be refused by them and assumed by a private corporation Another important act of the society was the decision on their part to issue no more liquor licenses to persons having stands in the enclosure and those desirous of imbibing will be compelled to step outside for it but, sakes alive, how busy it will keep the gate keepers

THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY

Will just more than grind out the business this week it being the last one of the session and an unusually large amount of business being in hand unfinished which as usual is the case will be hurried through at the last hour There are vague rumors of an extended session while some go so far as to say the Governor will call an extra session These however are but premature, and the probabilities are that legislation will cease as soon as the forty days are up Interested parties are wondering why the committee on ways and means do not report the general appropriation bill But a short time remains to discuss the same and it should be forthcoming The probabilities are that the House will not again go through the calendar and the Senate is crowded with business at the present time Look out for lively times this week The amusement world has been well entertained during the past week First on the list was

THE ROYAL MARIONETTES

Who have occupied Reed's Opera House Their show was something out of the ordinary line, and it took several exhibitions to convince some that the figures were mere deceptions They drew crowded houses every night and gave universal satisfaction The illusions are simply immense and the young and old alike went into ecstacies over them So lifelike did they appear at times that it seemed almost inhuman to believe them otherwise We understand they will play in Portland during the ensuing week, and we feel no hesitancy in recommending them to your readers Mr Waldron, the manager, is a "gentleman and a scholar," and we earnestly hope his new venture will prove a financial success The theatrical troupe under the management of J Al Sawtelle proved another attractive feature at the old Legislative Hall which in some instances proved much too small to accommodate all who desired to attend The troupe is certainly an excellent one the majority of them being stars in their line while Mr and Mrs Sawtelle stand high in their profession East Lynne [illegible] Driven from Home [illegible] Rip Van Winkle Hidden Hand and The Cabin Boy have been presented in quick succession They will remain three evenings this week

[illegible]

[illegible] Fair had no sooner closed than the [illegible] set in and it is still raining The [illegible] between the city and Fair ground [illegible] was [illegible]

Rev [illegible] Bonnell officiated at the Episcopal Church this morning [illegible]

Rev H [illegible] of the Presbyterian Church and Rev Ambrose [illegible] of the Baptist Church [illegible]

Harry [illegible] was injured by the fire engine at the Fair [illegible] on Thursday last [illegible] again over [illegible]

Notwithstanding the unusual number of hard [illegible] the past week the depredations have been fewer than ever before

The grand excitement [illegible] on the ground last Friday when a man was reported killed [illegible] knocked down after all which was the offender so and costs [illegible] day

The sporting fraternity report business dull during fair week as the average Webfoot has cut his eye teeth and is not so easily gulled as formerly

Little Joe son of J C Chas Esq died in this city Saturday and will be buried to-morrow

One of the prison convicts Hunter by name made his escape last Saturday evening He dodged through the apothecary shop while [illegible] deposing some bottles gathered around the prison as was his daily [illegible] being considered a trusty Owing to the darkness of the night he managed to escape and parties at the Fair Ground furnished him with a [illegible] of clothing We learn he was from [illegible] of the Columbia river counties and had about nine months yet to stay

The capitol building was visited by a large number during the fair week

FAIR GROUNDS SALEM Oregon Oct 10 1876

[illegible]

The following statement I make in justice to myself and child and more particularly to Dr J J McBride [illegible] generous and able professional [illegible] upon [illegible] has revolutionized the whole medical fraternity and created a sensation among the most learned men of Walla Walla where he resides In justice to mankind I deem it my duty to make a correct statement without any exaggeration of the whole facts connected with the case more particularly for the benefit of my fellow citizens and neighbors of Oregon who are afflicted with the various diseases of the human race

My son Master George H [illegible] 17 years old [illegible] he lost the entire use of his limbs and could not walk for 11 months I called on some of the most eminent physicians in Walla Walla and put him under their medical advice and treatment and paid hundreds of dollars for their services during this period until finally they gave him up and ceased treatment saying that his case was hopeless—some called it scrofula and others called it white swelling So after everything had failed I had lost all hopes myself of ever restoring my child to health again until I had heard of Dr J J McBride World's Relief upon the streets one day of Walla Walla, selling his medicines and giving immediate relief almost to every one who was afflicted I resolved at once to give one more trial, and I therefore put my child under his treatment and in less than two weeks my child was restored to his former condition and is now on his feet on these Fair Grounds to day May God bless him, and may he live forever to do thousands of others the same good who are afflicted throughout the land

JOHN HANCOCK

Proprietor of the Mammoth Mastodon, Fair Grounds

Dr J J McBride arrived last evening from Salem and will remain in the city of Portland for four days only His office can be found at the OCCIDENTAL HOTEL Rooms No 6 and 7 and we would advise all who are afflicted to avail themselves of this their last opportunity and call and see him preparatory to his departure for Philadelphia Mr Hancock the gentleman who published the above card, is now in the city of Portland and will remain a few days His son in question is also with him He is stopping at the Occidental hotel

Hodge Snell & Co are Doctor J J McBride's authorized agents for the State of Oregon and henceforth his celebrated World's Relief will be on sale at their drug store

The Daily Oregonian.

TUESDAY MORNING, OCT. 17, 1876.

YOU ASK ME HOW I LIVE.

Living friendly, feeling friendly,
Acting fairly to all men.
Seeking to do that to others
They may do to me again.
Hating no man, scorning no man,
Wronging none by word or deed;
But forbearing, soothing, serving,
Thus I live—and this my creed.

Harsh condemning, fierce contemning
Is of little Christian use;
One soft word of kindly peace
Is worth a surfeit of abuse;
Calling things bad, calling men bad,
Adds but darkness to their night;
If thou wouldst improve thy brother
Let thy goodness be his light.

I have felt and known how bitter,
Human coldness makes the world,
Ev'ry bosom round me frozen,
Not an eye with pity pearl'd;
Still my heart with kindness teeming
Glads when other hearts are glad,
And my eyes a tear-drop findeth
At the sight of others sad.

Ah! be kind—life hath no secret
For our happiness like this;
Kindly hearts are seldom sad ones,
Blessings ever bringeth bliss;
Lend a helping hand to others,
Smile though all the world should frown.
Man is man, we all are brothers,
Black or white or red and brown.

Man is man through all gradations,
Little recks it where he stands,
How divided into nations,
Scattered over many lands;
Man is man by form and feature,
Man by vice and virtue too,
Man in all one common nature
Speaks and binds us brothers true.

TILLAMOOK COUNTY FINANCES.

TILLAMOOK, Oct. 11, 1876.

To the Oregon Legislature, and also to the Oregon public: As a petition signed by many influential citizens of this county has recently gone forth to the legislature praying for a reduction of 25 per centum upon all [illegible] laries, fees per diem, as compensation for any service wherein the county is the payer, it may not be unwise to make a more definite statement than the straightforward wording of the petition allowed, as to why the above reduction is called for, that the perhaps surprised legislature and the kind public may not draw false deductions as to the stability of the finances of our little republic down by the sea. Now the tax levy for the years 1874 and 1875 was 25 and 24 mills but again placed at 25 mills this year for State, school and county purposes; a rate certainly grievous enough for a county, yet comparatively speaking in its infancy, and also laboring under some inconveniences as to its market. The taxable property for the last year amounted to (clear of indebtedness and exemptions), a [illegible] than $82,000, but this year it was found to have depreciated down to not quite $70,000, a decline of over $11,000 in one year. But this great depreciation is not owing to an actual decline in salable value, but for the reason that last year as well as other years preceding it, property had been assessed at a higher rate in this county than in nearly every county in the State. Therefore when it was cut down this year to conform with the [illegible] values in other parts, it fell short the above named sum in the face of an actual [illegible] increase in salable value.

Now the annual expenses of the county cannot, by the most rigid economy, be made to foot up less than $1,100. The present amount of property at the present levy only yields $1,120 for county uses. Now deduct from this the usual amount of delinquencies that has marked the last two years, say from $100 to $250, and is it not obvious that we are going to run a little behind each year? The [illegible] $300 ex[illegible] of personal property, this perhaps beneficial law in richer parts of the State, yet works detrimental to the rapid accumulation of taxable property in the newer [illegible] as their inhabitants are [illegible] "unbl[illegible]d with much of the world," and a small exemption clause nearly removes from them entire any tax liabilities. At least, the exemption in this county foots up to over $28,000, a sum not very far from equaling one half the whole taxable amount of [illegible]. The [illegible] of dismembering and [illegible] being attached to Yamhill county has been frequently broached, but does not meet with [illegible] favor on account of the inconvenience that would result in a removal to a distance of from forty to sixty miles from a [illegible], with a rough mountain range [illegible], which at [illegible] seasons of the year becomes entirely impassable.

As this proposed reduction is not to touch the private [illegible] of officers, they can tolerably well afford it; besides they do not, any of them in this county, depend alone upon their offices for subsistence, but pursue some other avocations, being generally farmers or mechanics, with manners mixed with rurality and habits correspondingly so; and, as is nearly always the case in the newer counties, they spring from a class that sport the respectability, if not the whole broadcloth, that characterizes the [illegible] that accompany the wealth of the older counties. They, therefore, do not find it absolutely nec[illegible]y upon every occasion to burden themselves with the expense, as Hamlet's countryman did, of "customary suits of solemn black."

Now, supposing that we were still maintaining a financial balance, yet this does not satisfy us, for we want to look a little higher than to see our [illegible] revenues absorbed year after year, as has been the case heretofore, in keeping up the corporate machinery of our little commonwealth, with such very small margins for such [illegible] public improvements, and which, as yet, the county exhibits but few tangible evid[illegible] of. No, we want to locate a county seat if the present Legislature will permit us. In that case we will necessarily have to erect the required buildings. But in our present condition of total absorption of taxes, with a balance against us, the prospect looks gloomy. [illegible], with our expenses reduced one-fourth, we could run smoothly, and as property increased we would have the greater [illegible] to meet the public outlays, and thus wear along until the time might arrive when we could again increase the county compensation. Now our plan of retrenchment is simple, feasible, direct and one that affords immediate relief, and one that a prudent legislature cannot censure, condemn or distrust, for it bears the broad evidence on its face that it has its origin and growth upon the wide fields of honest retrenchment and economy.

F. M. LAMB, Co. Com'r Tillamook Co.

JUST SO.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

A few facts in regard to the spending of the nation's money under the different Presidents should be more generally known.

Under Jackson's administration the receipts and disbursements of the public money—the Postoffice Department included—were so managed that out of every thousand dollars there was a loss of twenty-one dollars and eighty-nine cents. Under Van Buren the losses were still greater. They went up to twenty-six dollars and ninety-nine cents per thousand!! So did the Democratic thieves of those days fatten upon the people's money. It is refreshing to turn from such vile corruption to the present administration, the purest and most economical our country has ever enjoyed. A luminous proof of this we have in the fact that under Grant the loss in receipts and disbursements—including the postoffice—is only one dollar and one cent per thousand dollars. Not one twentieth as much as under Jackson!

The case stands thus: Democratic thieves and defaulters under Jackson made away with more than twenty times as much money per thousand dollars, as do the Republicans under Grant. And yet, wonderful to tell, there are Democrats, and some other ill informed persons, so lost to sense and honesty that they are ready to cry themselves hoarse in praising Jackson and the Democrats, and in abusing Grant and the Republicans! They ignore the fact that the former class was twenty times more corrupt than the latter. These railing sinners should have the facts shaken under their noses until they learn something of their own depravity and the infamy of their party.

Chicago Grain Market.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—The grain market during the past week has presented an animated appearance, but prices have been generally rather inclined to weakness in harmony with the reported dullness in the Eastern markets and the rush of heavy arrivals here, and comparatively light shipments. The week closed with an upward movement on the war rumors from the Continent. Prices have been $1 08a1 09 for cash. Wheat closing at about $1 08½; corn has sold between 42 and 47, chiefly at the higher price; oats have held their own, about 32½; rye has weakened, selling at 59; barley has been cornered and excited selling up to 90, pork and lard have tumbled a little and the future for provisions looks rather unpromising. Receipts for the week: Wheat, 780,000; corn, 1,753,000; oats, 427,000; against the same week last year, wheat 840,000; corn, 810,000; oats, 690,000. Shipments of wheat 316,000; corn, 1,536,000; oats, 329,000; against wheat, 618,000; corn, 450,000; oats, 167,000 last year. Trade has been fairly brisk this week, and clearings in banks have shown great increase in money business. The hard times seem to be gradually disappearing and this winter will probably be less severe on the poor classes than for some years.

European Grain Market.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—The Mark Lane Express says harvesting is still unfinished in the north and unsecured crops are suffering both in grain and straw. There has been slight improvement in the quantity of grain marketed by farmers during the week, but the bulk offered is still in an unsatisfactory condition. Only dry samples have met with any attention and these have commanded higher prices, presumably because of the demand for fine grains for sowing purposes. Values do not appear to have been raised by the prospect of war. Our return of granary stock on the first of October compared with that of July 1st, shows that the quantity of wheat has increased by rather less than half. Flour has somewhat diminished. These stocks, though certainly large, ought not, considering receipts and prospective large diminution of imports and deficient home growth, to depress trade. They show only a moderate increase upon the corresponding period of last year. The large imports that were then arriving were accumulating week by week, whereas at present fruit is rather out than into the granaries. All things considered the condition of trade is healthy although the large stocks and the difficulty of harvesting the grain exercise an influence adverse to holders. On the other hand, no decline seems possible whilst shipments from abroad continue on the present moderate scale.

Local trade remains about the same as last week, the increase being the demand for Indian wheat which millers bought freely. The floating cargo trade ruled very firm with only moderate arrivals off the coast. Rather more attention has been paid to floating cargoes. Ghirka wheat has been held at full prices.

Boston Wool Market.

BOSTON, Oct. 14.—The demand for wool continues to exceed expectations, and prices are gradually stiffening up, particularly in fine and medium fleeces. There is apparently no excitement in the market, but manufacturers are purchasing with confidence. Fleeces continue to attract considerable attention and full prices have readily been obtained. Sales of the week have been 516,000 pounds, including medium and X Ohio and Pennsylvania at 39@40c; desirable X fleeces are now firm at latter prices; XX and above sold at 43@45. The stock of fine fleeces is smaller than for many years at this season. Sales of Michigan and other fleeces have been 193,000 pounds, principally at 35@40c; good lines of Michigan are held at 35@45c, the principal sales have been in the range of 30½@38c. Unwashed fleeces continue to attract attention; sales 85,300 pounds at 23@25c. In combing and delaine there has not been much doing, sales of the week embracing only 91,500 pounds; prices are steady and firm, ranging from 42@45 for fine delaine and desirable lots of combing. Pulled has been in fair request and market quite firm; transactions include 198,800 pounds, at prices ranging from 32@44 for super, principally at 35@40. The demand for California is good, but fall comes forward slowly; sales include 73,000 at 21@28 and 632,500 lbs fall at 14@28, but the latter was a fancy price obtained only for small lots of very choice; principal transactions have been in the range of 18 and 22.
